INTRODUCTION

It is known that the majority of the population in our country is made up of children and young people. Social problems are expressed accordingly.

In one of his lectures, President Sh. M. Mirziyoyev said, "Our youth have independent thinking, high intellectual and spiritual potential, and they are people who are not inferior to their peers in any field on the world scale. "We will mobilize all the strength and capabilities of our state and society for him to mature and be happy" [1, p. 14].

The settlement of the spiritual world of the youth of Uzbekistan is of decisive importance not only for the life of the young generation, but also for the life of the entire society of Uzbekistan. A strict life direction and development of their own life strategies is a necessary and important place for educating modern youth in the complex and current era of globalization.

In this article, the necessary conditions and current issues of raising the culture of modern youth by further perfecting the educational process in the family and educational institutions have been researched.

The changing conditions of life encourage young people to adapt to new realities, develop their own Haitian perspective, and create their own bright future. Therefore, we can consider that the following tasks are relevant, important and effective for families and educational institutions today:

- creating favorable conditions for the use of knowledge, skills and efforts of young people based on a well-thought-out, scientifically based youth policy;
- to ensure that they can determine and realize their social interests, needs, life prospects in the development of independent Uzbekistan.

Knowing the valuable directions and aspirations of the youth of modern Uzbekistan is not only relevant, but also important for understanding the current trends and general direction of the development of the society of Uzbekistan. It not only reflects young people's perceptions of the current situation in society, but also aspects that are later reflected in their lifestyle and behavior as citizens of their country, including their self-esteem, self-esteem. The importance of such knowledge increases due to the fact that it includes the features of self-identification and self-reflection.

At this point, it is worth mentioning the words of the first President of the Republic of Uzbekistan, I.A. Karimov, "The future of our country, the future of our people, the reputation of our country in the world community is the most important, what kind of people will our children grow up to be?" depends on how it enters life. We should never forget such a sharp truth" [2, p. 4].

In improving the literacy of young people, the system of independent work on the family, general education school, higher and secondary special education and the cooperative activity of this system play an important role. Youth, women's organizations, educational institutions, community officials, republican and local trade unions organize trips to cultural places and historical monuments throughout the cities of our republic, in order to organize cultural activities of young people in their free time. they should pay attention to the development and implementation of short-term recreation programs, the holding of holiday events in the form of elections in each district and each neighborhood. "The family is an important link in the spiritual and physical formation of young people. It is in the family that high moral and spiritual qualities such as mutual respect, kindness, honesty, hard work, humanitarianism and patriotism are cultivated and passed on from generation to generation. Of course, the moral highness, worldview, and literacy of women, who are the main educators in the family, play an important role here" [3, p. 11]. A person who has developed a sense of discipline in the family serves as the owner of this feeling in the work of the state and society, does not even think of breaking the laws of the state, sets every work in its place and time, and does it according to order. Such discipline and order become the honor of the people and the nation today. Let's say, this is the reason why German and Japanese discipline is recognized worldwide. Abdurauf Fitrat described the social nature of such discipline and wrote in his book "Family and Family Management Procedures": "The happiness and honor of every nation depends on its internal discipline and harmony. And the peace and harmony of this nation rests on the discipline of families. Where the family relationship is based on strong discipline, the country and the nation will be strong and orderly.

Therefore, it is necessary to develop and implement local programs on the issue of strengthening the health of our growing sons and daughters, raising them as worthy children of our Motherland.

Today, thanks to our independence, we have begun to implement specific tasks aimed at strengthening the economic, socio-political, and spiritual foundations of our society. Continuing them is in the hands of our youth. Therefore, the education of young people is the main task of each of us today, and approaching it from the point of view of duty and responsibility is the guarantee of forming a mentally and physically healthy generation.

In our country, the issue of raising the well-being of families to a high level is always in the state's attention. The family is the first destination of education, and the proper organization of the education process in the family depends not only on the parents, but also on other members of the family. Education is considered a continuous and improving process, and education and upbringing are inseparable and mutually complementary processes. The importance of our national values and traditions remains important in the formation of our children's education. Neighborhood, environment of educational institutions are effective factors affecting the formation of education. [Page 4- 96]

The following suggestions can be made regarding these issues: - family sanctity should be inculcated in children's thinking;

- it is necessary to always take into account every aspect affecting the formation of education in the family;

- the family, as the basis of society, should further improve the material and moral support of families;

- to ensure the effectiveness of education in the family, it is necessary to use the methods and tools of education clearly and correctly;

- further increase of family, neighborhood and school cohesion in child education.

It shows that it is ready to respond to the trust of our independent republic with practical work, to be the support and decisive force of the social, economic and political reforms implemented in the country. The youth of Uzbekistan are highly educated, engaged in all spheres of social and economic development of the country and actively working in private entrepreneurship they are young men and women who have a developed sense of patriotism and are confident about their future and the bright future of their country.
